NCG verdict: MD Golf's Players Series wedges are without question a winner. For the money you categorically can't do any better. Unless spending almost double the amount on, say, a Titleist or a Mizuno really makes no financial difference to you, we would advise any club golfer to invest in one – or two or three. We love the classical head shapes and the grip and shaft components are top-quality. As for the spin, well, it's hard to say for sure but this Cobalt head certainly feels like the ball runs up the face and starts spinning heavily – and that's half the battle, giving you the confidence to chip positively.
